

Velindre University NHS Trust

Digital degree apprenticeships make a difference at Velindre

- Scheme helps individuals advance education and careers

Velindre University NHS Trust is reaping the rewards from apprenticeships. Digital Degree Apprenticeships are important in helping to upskill existing staff, improving their knowledge to bring new perspectives and future-ready skills to the workplace.

The Degree Apprenticeship Programme at the University of Wales Trinity St David offers high quality, fully funded training through partnerships with organisations such as Velindre.

Apprenticeships are an increasingly efficient way for organisations to develop a motivated and skilled workforce, while also granting employees to reach their potential by acquiring experience and qualifications. This practical application of both experience and qualifications contributes to the centre's digital operations.

Also, the financial support offered through apprenticeship schemes help to overcome barriers to education as its apprentices receive a full-time salary with university fees covered.